JANE SAMPLE
123 ANY STREET
ANY CITY, BC V1V 1V1

Dear Jane Sample,

It's time for your cervix screening. Take action now to prevent cervical cancer. Your last cervix screening was: [YYYY/MM/DD]. Please ignore this notice if you've had cervix screening (i.e. Pap test or self-screening) in the last 3 months.

BC Cancer is now offering you a choice in how you receive cervix screening. You have the option to participate in cervix self-screening, which you can complete yourself. We invite you to request a self-screening kit that lets you to take your own vaginal sample to screen for cervical cancer. You can do it wherever you feel safe and comfortable - such as in your home or at a health care provider's office. It's highly effective and a reliable test that looks for the human papillomavirus (HPV), the virus that causes cervical cancer.

Why should I consider self-screening?

- ✓ It tests for HPV, the virus that causes the changes to the cells of the cervix that lead to cervical cancer.
- ✓ You don't need to see a health care provider or have a speculum (pelvic) exam.
- ✓ You can self-screen, wherever you feel safe and comfortable.
- ✓ It's easy and painless. You use the small, Q-tip like swab to collect a sample from your vagina.
- ✓ It's free of charge.
- ✓ HPV testing is very accurate. Because it's so accurate, if your test shows you don't have HPV, you can wait 5 years for your next screen.

How can I self-screen for cervical cancer?

1. Request a screening kit. It will arrive in the mail in plain, unmarked packaging in about 2 weeks.
2. Closely follow the instructions inside your kit to collect a sample.
3. Use the prepaid return envelope included in your kit to return your sample to the lab for testing.
4. A results letter will be mailed to you and a provider 4 to 6 weeks after mailing in your kit. You can also see your results online: www.healthgateway.gov.bc.ca.

Why did I receive this letter?

Our records show that you are due for cervix screening. By reminding you directly about the need to re-screen, we are encouraging you to play an active role in protecting your cervix health.

Who should not get screened for cervical cancer?

You do not need to screen for cervical cancer if you had cervical cancer or had your cervix removed for any reason (such as total hysterectomy). If screening is no longer required, please contact us at 1-877-702-6566 or screening@bccancer.bc.ca to stop future reminder notices from being sent to you.

If you have bleeding after sex, between periods or after menopause; increased vaginal discharge; pelvic pain or pain during sex, it's important to discuss these symptoms with a health care provider. If you are currently pregnant, please talk to a health care provider about screening options and when to screen.

Where did you get my personal health and contact information from?

As a program of the Provincial Health Services Authority, we receive relevant personal health and contact information from government organizations and health professionals that are directly involved in your care. We use this information to determine when you should receive letters for cancer screening and to provide you with your screening results. BC Cancer is committed to keeping your information private, confidential and secure at all times.

We use this information to:

- Invite you to consider screening when you are age-eligible;
- Remind you when you are due for your next screening test; and,
- Inform you of your screening test results, including follow-up information (if required).

You may be contacted in the future to complete feedback surveys regarding cervix screening.

BC Cancer leads the provincial planning and regional delivery of cancer care for British Columbians. BC Cancer's mandate covers the full spectrum of cancer care and includes organized cancer screening programs for British Columbia.
